THE ATLAS PLEDGE OF COMMITMENT

All listed businesses, organizations, producers and farms pledge their commitment to the following:

BUSINESS & ORGANIZATIONS

- Locally and cooperatively owned or family owned or is a nonprofit organization whose mission is to promote a sustainable regional food system.
- Operates in a way that protects and sustains the region's natural (e.g. land and water) resources.
- Provides safe and fair working conditions for employees.
- Sells or advocates for products grown on Wisconsin farms, or sells products made by their business using raw materials grown on Wisconsin farms, or uses fair trade, sustainable, and/or organic ingredients in their products.
- Supports Wisconsin farmers and local food businesses and promotes a more sustainable, regional food system.
- Controls purchasing decisions for goods, products or services from vendors of their choosing.
- Makes independent decisions regarding the name, look and operations of the business, including marketing, advertising, logo design, branding decisions and business procedures, practices, and policies.
- Commits to purchasing food locally and sustainably, emphasizing ingredients grown or produced in Wisconsin.
- Works to increase, expand, and promote Wisconsin-sourced products.

FARMS & PRODUCERS

- Cooperatively or family-owned.
- Committed to reducing the application of synthetic pesticides and fertilizers.
- Operates in a way that protects and sustains the region's land and water resources.
- Treats animals with care, respect, and provide access to the outdoors.
- Provides safe, fair working conditions for employees.
- Sells Wisconsin products that they have grown or helped produce on their farm.

WHO IS REAP FOOD GROUP

REAP Food Group is a Wisconsin-based nonprofit whose mission is to transform communities, economies, and lives through the power of good food. We are committed to efforts that strengthen food security and rebuild local supply chains, support sustainable small and mid-sized Wisconsin farms, connect rural and urban communities, and ensure that equitable power and inclusive voices shape access to good food in Dane County and statewide. We envision a vibrant and just food system where all people have access to good food, grown well.

We do this by:

- Educating and connecting local and sustainable farmers and everyone from institutional to individual buyers,
- Strengthening and amplifying community-led solutions to food system challenges,
- Educating consumers so they can be advocates for actions and policies that support an equitable, just and environmentally sustainable food system, and
- Celebrating with community around good food.
- Building the next generation of healthy eaters through youth education.

REAP Food Group has worked for 25 years to build a vibrant food system where people can thrive on good food, grown well. We started with the Farm Fresh Atlas, a listing and map of 300+ farm stands, farmers' markets, farm-to-table restaurants, and retail outlets across Wisconsin. The 2020 pandemic illustrated these two food systems and how they serve our community very differently. REAP Food Group recognized the need for expanding our mission to provide good food, grown well, for everybody. REAP Food Group is building coalitions with community partners who also have been co-creating our food system. We also understand that the best work will be changing the food system, as a whole, to be more just and sustainable.

A BRIEF HISTORY OF THE ATLAS

The Farm Fresh Atlas was launched in 2002. Back then, we didn't have Google Maps on our GPS-enabled cell phones. Instead, we used print maps to navigate. In 2002, Odessa Piper, owner of L'Etoile Restaurant on the capitol square, received the James Beard Award, for creating world-class cuisine featuring the bounty of the Dane County Farmers Market. The word "locavore," meaning someone who eats only food produced near where they live, would not be coined until 2005. The first Farm Fresh Atlas was a folded booklet, on a sheet of newsprint with 50 farms, 11 businesses, and 20 farmers' markets. The Atlas was developed to help people to buy food that was grown or produced in our community. It was not a new idea, because people had been eating food grown near to them for most of the history of humanity, yet the Atlas was challenging the status quo of flavorless fruits and vegetables mass produced on worldwide farms and transported thousands of miles to national grocery store chains. REAP Food Group printed out a few thousand copies of the first Farm Fresh Atlas and handed them out at the local farmers markets.

Following the successful publication of the 2002 Farm Fresh Atlas, interest rapidly grew throughout the Dane County farming community, and the number of farmers listing in the Atlas quickly doubled, then doubled again. Local artist Mark Harmon was commissioned to create original cover art featuring produce, animals, and local landmarks like the Wisconsin State Capitol building. The website version at FarmFreshAtlas.org was launched in 2005. By 2008, REAP Food Group was printing 35,000 copies of the Atlas, adding restaurants that serve locally-produced food, and expanding the territory to most of south-central Wisconsin. In 2009, the Farm Fresh Atlas included 103 farms and 45 farmers' markets, and 27 restaurants. Interest was also growing from other regions of the state, launching other regional Atlases in Southeast, Northern, Central, and Western Wisconsin. By 2022, there were over 500 farms, farmers' markets, CSAs, restaurants, retail businesses and organizations across Wisconsin listed in five regional Farm Fresh Atlases.

Today, the Farm Fresh Atlas is moving into a new era, with a new Farm Fresh Atlas of Wisconsin. This expanded Atlas covers the entire state, from Superior to Kenosha, and all points in between. The Farm Fresh Atlas team is growing to serve the entire state, and we will be introducing new ways to feature Wisconsin-grown food.

Thank you to USDA for supporting the Farm Fresh Atlas through a grant from the Local Foods Promotion Program, Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection through the Specialty Crop Block grant program.

TradeRoots is a Madison-based group of farmers and chefs with roots in Wisconsin and West Africa. Beginning in 2021, we're growing and cooking with crops of cultural relevance to the African diaspora in the Madison area. Our farming projects, products, and culinary events highlight the entire life cycle of locally grown heritage varieties of veggies and grains within the context of diversified small-scale farming in southern WI. Our goal is to develop viable approaches to urban farming, cooking, food preservation, and value-added processing that are accessible to everyday people and help mitigate the increasingly severe economic hardship in our city.

Made up of over 230 Wisconsin family farms, we believe that rotationally grazing cattle is the best way to raise our lean, tasty 100% grass-fed (and finished!) beef and pork. Our pastures protect soil, water, and local wildlife. Our members are committed to producing high quality, sustainable beef and pork for you and your family.

The advertisement is a vertical banner with a blue background. At the top, there's a cartoon illustration of two worms, one holding a long stick. Below them is a green oval with the text 'OMRI ORGANIC WORM CASTINGS'. To the left is the 'D&L Enterprises' logo. The main text 'YIELD BUILDER' is in large, bold, white letters. Below it, it says 'Brewed from Denali OMRI - Listed Worm Castings'. There are images of white plastic jugs and a large white tote. At the bottom, it says 'ORGANIC / SUSTAINABLE / ENVIRONMENTALLY FRIENDLY' and the 'Life' logo.

ALLISON PFAFF HARRIS REAP Farm to School Director

GROW FARM TO SCHOOL with HEALTHY SCHOOL MEALS FOR ALL WISCONSIN

It's no secret if you picked up this Farm Fresh Atlas, Wisconsin is rich with agriculture. We have family dairy farms that have been nurtured by generations, growers practicing regenerative techniques to steward the land for the future, and producers transforming the bounty into new products like cheese and yogurt. As REAP's Farm to School Director, I'm often asked, "How do we get all that Wisconsin has to offer into schools and the hands of students?"

Schools are making it happen—just visit New Richmond, Ashwaubenon, or Madison and you'll find locally sourced proteins, hydroponic greens grown in-house, and regionally-grown vegetables on salad bars, respectively. And what's amazing is they're doing so with incredibly tight budgets, that need to cover not only food but all the labor and overhead that goes into producing school meals.

The national supply chain disruptions that came with the pandemic put a spotlight on the need to support the connections between schools and their local growers. While the Federal government sent funds to states to help build and foster these connections, much of the funding will come to an end in the near future

So to both keep and grow schools' abilities to purchase from local growers, we need to look at larger system changes to support school nutrition programs as a whole.

That's where Healthy School Meals for All Wisconsin (HSM4A WI) comes in. Healthy School Meals for All Wisconsin is a movement to offer school meals, breakfast and lunch, to all Wisconsin students K-12 at no charge. This movement was born out of the pandemic when students across the country ate school meals at no charge.

Under the current model, school nutrition programs must charge for school meals, or offer them at a reduced price or for free to students whose household incomes qualify. It adds up to a lot of administrative paperwork and tracking down payments for meals that were charged.

By offering meals at no cost to all students, school nutrition programs benefit not only from less administrative paperwork, but greater and consistent funding for their program from all students having access and no unpaid meal debt. These programs are then able to reallocate time and resources to their local food connections grown before and during the pandemic.

Healthy School Meals for All Wisconsin is also a win for households and students. Households can rest assured their students have daily access to fruits, vegetables, grains, proteins, and milk at school, avoiding the morning scramble pack lunches. All students can be assured of access to nourishing school meals that both improve focus in the classroom and make a connection with a farmer in their community.

By supporting strong school nutrition programs through Healthy School Meals for All Wisconsin, we can support our Wisconsin farmers, growers, and producers.
